Glades Day fumbles title

BAKER'S MARCUS MAYS, 44, was virtually unstoppable. The senior led his team to its first state championship in three attempts against the Glades Day Gators.

Baker wins state game 20-7

By JEFF BROWN and MIKE UNDERWOOD
BELLE GLADE - The Glades Day School Gators' reign as class A high school football state champions is over and the Baker Gators' reign has just begun.

Baker claimed the state title when it defeated Glades Day 20-7 Friday night, December 9 at Glades Day's Gator Field.

It was the two teams' third meeting for the state championship in the last four years. Glades Day had won the previous two games in 1980 and 1982. Those two games were played in Baker.

Glades Day fumbled the championship away in the first half of the game last Friday.

The team took the opening kickoff and in two plays drove to their own 20 yard line before a fumble put the ball in Baker's hands.

Five plays later, Baker running back Marcus Mays carried the ball over from five yards out to give the Baker Gators a 6-0 lead.

The kick for the extra-point failed.

Glades took the kickoff and drove to the 50 before fumbling the ball away again.

Baker drove to the three yard line when Marcus Mays carried the ball over for the touchdown. When the two-point conversion attempt failed, Baker had a 12-0 lead.

That was all last year's runners up would need as Glades Day could only muster seven points.

Baker Coach John Ensor said that while Glades Day played Baker "rough and tough to the last play," the turnovers delivered the game and title to Baker this year.

Glades Day got on the board just before the half ended.

Baker fumbled at their 30 yard line and Glades Day recovered. Four plays later, Jose Perez carried the ball over to the right side of center. The extra-point was good and Baker's lead was out to 12-7 at halftime.

The Baker offense came back out in the second half and almost immediately put the game beyond reach. They took the opening kick-off and drove 80 yards in 15 plays before scoring. The

Will Walker call it quits?

By JEFF BROWN
BELLE GLADE - Was the 1983 football season Byron Walker, Jr.'s last with the Glades Day School Gators?

After the Gators beat Baker in 1982 for the class A state championship, Walker said in his Crest View motel room that he was considering hanging it up after one more year at Glades Day.

"I've been to the mountain," commented Walker.

Between December 1982 and September 1983, Walker was hired to coach the class 2A Pahokee Blue Devils football team.

Just days after that was published, Walker apparently decided not to accept the Pahokee position, but to stay at Glades Day.

Walker wouldn't commit himself either way after the Baker game.

Main Street strip could expand

BELLE GLADE - Two new businesses, one permanent and one temporary, will probably be opening on South Main Street in Belle Glade next year.

The city commission Monday night, December 12, asked city attorney John E. Baker to draw up ordinances which will allow a food restaurant chain to sell beer and hook into the city sewage system.

Another proposed ordinance Baker was asked to draw up would allow a local business to locate a mobile home sales lot on South Main Street.

William J. Algeo told the city commission that Pizza Hut wanted to build a restaurant at 949 South Main Street between the Holiday Inn and First American Bank.

The company would be leasing the land from Claude Jones, but before formally entering the lease, company officials wanted city approval to hook into the city's sewage system and approval for the appropriate alcoholic beverage zone.

Baker was asked to draft the appropriate ordinances which would then have to be approved twice by the city commission.

"Historically, once we've taken this step, there's no problem," Mayor Thomas L. Altman said. "But, of course the commission can always change its mind."

One of the two ordinances, if approved, would permit the facility to hook into the sewage system provided the company acquires a building permit within four months of the ordinance's passage.

City Manager W.E. "Tom" Strang, Jr., asked for the four-month stipulation because it prevented space on the sewage system from being tied up if the company decided not to build.

The city is on a moratorium that limits any new connections to the sewage system. All new connections must be approved by the city commission while that moratorium is in effect.

The second ordinance would allow the restaurant to sell beer for consumption on premises only.

The city commission also requested that Baker draft an ordinance that annexes a one acre plot of land at 916 South Main Street.

City seeks harbor permit change

By JEFF BROWN
PAHOKEE - Pahokee city officials will assist private developers in their efforts to change the permit governing the city's use of the breakwater and marina, but they aren't willing to help those developers acquire the state park land adjacent to that facility until the permit change has been addressed by the state.

J. Ray Hatton II, representing the Pahokee Marina Development Corporation, asked the city council Tuesday night, December 13, to decide whether it was going to apply for a change in the permit it held allowing the city to operate the marina and breakwater.

Under the permit, the city currently holds on the facility, the marina or the breakwater can't be leased to the private company for any use.

PMDC has been attempting to lease the facility from the city and develop it. The city and company had entered into an agreement earlier this year that stated the company would be able to lease the facility if all contingencies standing in the way were cleared.

The state permit is one of those contingencies.

In order to remove the state's objections, a new permit must be issued to the city that would allow the city to lease the facility to a private company for development.

Before such an agreement can be entered, the state apparently has to revoke the permit the city now holds.

The council voted, 3-1, to apply for a change in the permit on the facility.

It denied a request by Hatton to also seek control of the state park land adjacent to the facility.

PMDC also wants to lease that from the city, if the city happens to acquire control of it, and develop it as part of the proposed resort area.

The council members said they didn't want to acquire control of the state park land and lose their bid for a change in the permit on the breakwater and marina.

Councilman Jon Mock said the corporation couldn't fully develop the facility if that happened, so he preferred to see what happened with the permit-change application first.

Only Councilman William E. McKinstry voted against filing the application for the permit-change.

The city's getting the short end of it (the agreement with PMDC), said McKinstry, explaining his vote.

"And I do take opposition to that," said Mock.

McKinstry pointed to the loss of tee-dock rentals the agreement with PMDC, if it ever takes effect, would mean. The city currently clears $200 a month on that rent, according to McKinstry.

Under the PMDC agreement, the city would apparently receive two percent if PMDC grosses $500,000 a year, three percent if grosses between $500,000 and a million dollars, and four percent if it grosses a million dollars or more.

McKinstry told the council that the city would lose money if it entered the PMDC agreement.

"I know we are. Anytime the city is gonna lose money, I'm against it," said McKinstry.

Hatton said the city could make more money under the proposal than under the current arrangement.

"If we only thought we were going to make $500 thousand gross a year, gross, off it, we wouldn't be here fighting to get it," he said.

McKinstry asked why PMDC had never bid on the project and used the 715 Farms issue currently under consideration by the state as an example of other state-owned that has to be bid.

"We've never been asked to bid it," said Hatton. "If you want us to bid it, that's fine. We never said we didn't want to bid. The question was brought up and it was decided that the project was of a special nature and didn't have to be bid."

Hatton said the city had the application for the permit-change since early autumn and accused the council of stalling.

"I'm looking out for the city. I'm not elected to any office, state, county or otherwise. I'm looking out for the city," said McKinstry.

"I'm glad that you are," said Hatton, who then claimed that the project could help the city thrive.

I see all sorts of homes going up for sale," said Hatton. "This place is dying. Now, if you want Pahokee to die, I've been here all my life and have no interest in leaving. I don't want it to die."

McKinstry said putting a recreation facility on the dike wouldn't prevent people from leaving the city.

"It would attract more people," said Councilman Walter Rashley.

"There's nothing here to attract

Florida Agriculture Commissioner wants to sell more of its food to the rest of the United States and Canada so he brought a group of grocers to the Glades Thursday, December 8, to show them the Florida agriculture industry from the ground up.

The tour, which was joined by United States Senator Lawton Chiles, included the vice presidents of several major grocery store chains from the north and the president of at least one large chain.

"We wanted the food store executives to see the industry," said Comer. "These are the people who make the decisions, usually on the telephone."

The ultimate goal of the tour was to make a sale, admitted Comer.

Several members of the group, after seeing the vegetables growing in the fields and the operation of several local packing houses, went to a banquet in Orlando, Florida and caught seats on

New club organized at Christian Day

BELLE GLADE -- There's a new club for Christian Day School high school students this year.

The Key Club, whose motto is "Caring - Our Way of Life," is under the sponsorship and assistance of the local Kiwanis Club.

The objectives of the club, according to sponsor Bill Taylor, are to develop initiative, leadership, citizenship and to serve both in the school and the community.

Rob Carver and Father Santa Bibiana are the youth advisors for the Kiwanis Club of Belle Glade.

Carver said the Key Club members will help the Kiwanis Club in some of its charity projects, such as the Glades Area Association's Retarded Citizen's golf tournament, the pancake breakfast and manning of telephones during the Muscular Dystrophy Labor Day Telethon.

He said that in return, the Kiwanis Club members will participate in any charity projects the key club members organize.

Christian Day School sponsor Bill Taylor said the club will be a good opportunity for the members to grow in the community. "I believe this will be a fantastic service to the community and, of course, for support for Christian Day School," he added.

He said the club's members are planning some activities for the Christmas season, including providing food to needy families in the area.

The members of the club elected officers recently. Angie Harrell was chosen as the president; Angie Miller, vice president; Mayte Figueiras, treasurer and Elise Stiles, secretary. Other members of the club are Jochi Garcia, Jorge Martinez, Evelio Garcia, David Chamblee, Raul Cepero, Jesus Mezquita, Jose Garcia, Michael Morrison, Chris Stahlsmith, Carlos Rodriguez, Bibi Calvo, Jennifer Goodson, Maria Rodriguez, Debbie Davis, Lori Baker, Micah Corbin, Zoila Ruiz, Kimberly Chamblee, Erine Phillips, Ana Hernandez, Stacey Bohannon, Rachelle Nicholes, Cheryl Brewer, Gloria Ramos and Kendra Keinke.

December Star student honored

BELLE GLADE -- Jorge Martinez, a senior at Christian Day School, is the school's star student for the month of December.

He is the son of Jose and Esther Martinez of Belle Glade.

This year, Martinez is captain of the varsity basketball team at Christian Day School and president of both the senior class and National Honor Society. He is a member of the Crusader Choir, the Key Club, an honor roll student and active in the Christian Youth Organization at his church.

Upon graduation in May, Martinez plans to attend Stetson University in DeLand, Florida and major in business administration.

FBLA officers installed

BELLE GLADE -- New officers have started their terms with the Glades Central Community High School chapter of the Future Business Leaders of America after installation ceremonies at the school Thursday, November 17.

Joann Bass, a business teacher at Pahokee Junior-Senior High School, presided over the ceremonies in Glades Central's business department.

Officers installed were President Sadalia Highsmith, Vice President Karen Gooden, Secretary Kim Blanding, Treasurer

Lois Anderson, Reporter Maria

Villareal, Historian Valerie Foster, Parliamentarian Patrino Newkirk and Chaplain Lionel Camel.

Also attending the installation ceremony were FBLA members from Lake Shore Middle and their advisor Gail Davis and Pahokee Junior-Senior High School FBLA members and their advisor, Bass.

The advisors at Glades Central are Catherine Granville, Carolyn J. Brown and James Allen, Jr.

A reception followed the installation ceremonies.

Church plans Christmas cantata

BELLE GLADE -- The Chancel Choir of the Community United Methodist Church will present the cantata "Christmas Festival" by John F. Wilson Sunday, December 18 at 11 a.m.

Soloists will be Milton Carpenter Rachel Hollingsworth Carol Schmidt and Becky Watson. The handbell choir will perform in portions of the cantata, under the direction of Marilyn Sims.

The choir is under the direction of Carol Schmidt with organist Karen Corbin accompanying.

An Advent Festival of colors, candles and carols will be given that evening at 7 p.m. under the leadership of Rev. Harry Russell.

The church is located at 401 Southwest First Street and both performances are open to the public.

Steeles host buffet dinner

BELLE GLADE -- Bobby and Linde Steele recently hosted a buffet dinner for members and husbands of Xi Iota Alpha Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

An Italian menu consisting of a salad bar, lasagna, garlic bread, cheesecake and wine was served.

The Steele home was decorated with a harvest theme. The table centerpieces were arrangements combining traditional fall colors.

Members and guests attending were Kenneth and Rosemary Buchanan, Lee and Mary Burke, David and Pam Campbell, Dale and Joy Gates, Vivian Miller and Marlan and Anna Chapman.

Proclamation honor nurses

BELLE GLADE -- A proclamation by Belle Glade Mayor Thomas L. Altman, presented to members of the Visiting Nurse Association November 28, cites the contribution of medical personnel to health and designated this week as "Home Health Care Week."

The proclamation commends the efforts of nurses, nurses' aides, physical therapists and others in fighting disease and providing "high quality care in the home."

The employees of the Palm Beach Regional Visiting Nurse Association, Inc., accepted a copy of the proclamation and thanked the city commission for its support.

According to an association release, the Belle Glade office made over 7,500 visits last year and 10,000 this year. It expects to make 15,000 visits next year after addition of three more nurses.

The associations local offices are at the Lake Shore Civic Center.

City takes prudent course

The Pahokee City Council has decided to assist the Pahokee Marina Development Corporation in its efforts to acquire control of the city's state-owned breakwater and harbor, but its proceeding prudently.

The city will file an application to change the state-issued permit the city holds on the facility but it won't go after the adjacent state park lands. At least not just yet.

This makes sense.

If the city and PMDC ultimately do enter into a working agreement and development at the facility becomes a reality and not just a few people's dreams, the permit will probably have to be changed and the state park will have to be acquired by the city.

But it should be done in that order.

If the state park land is turned over to the city, but the request to change the permit is denied, the city will have control of the park land, and the expense of running and maintaining it, but it won't be able to lease the facility to PMDC for development because of restrictions in the state-issued permit on the marina.

Council members have long stated their concern over what taking control of the park lands could mean financially to the city.

They don't want it. Let the state control and maintain it. The city will keep things just the way they are so long as things remain the way they are.

If something should change and the city may be able to realize a larger profit from the entire operation, the city may want the land under the right circumstances, it appears.

That's understandable.

We also understand PMDC officials' frustration at seeing a project with such potential lag because of the city's caution. But city officials should be cautious with this type of responsibility. Despite the attitude of many elected officials at other levels of government, we elect people to look after the interest of the public at large, not just the corporate interest.

If they jump in too quickly and things don't work out quite right, they could have gambled, and lost large sums of city funds for a long time to come.

We think the council should attack this problem just as it is. Handle one obstacle at a time. In this case, the permit on the breakwater and harbor are the most pressing. Any benefit the city may realize by developing the marina and state lands are more or less contingent upon the satisfactory resolution of that question.

The state park lands can be addressed at a later date.

South Bay water concerns justified

When South Bay water drinkers were told to boil their water for 10 minutes last week because of a brief loss in pressure Friday evening, it was a necessary precaution.

True, all the tests after the pressure loss proved nothing wrong with the water. But city and health department officials didn't know that at the time.

What if something was wrong with the water?

Many people could have suffered in that case.

There may be many silly government regulations and restrictions that are more an inconvenience and hindrance upon people than a help, but we don't think this was an example of one.

We're glad that nothing was wrong with South Bay's water, that no one suffered more than an inconvenience from the incident and that there already existed the means to protect the consumers in case anything did go wrong with the water supply.

State agricultural effort is welcomed by Glades

The Florida Department of Agriculture is trying to get grocers, particularly eastern seaboard grocers, to buy more produce from the state.

The agriculture industry already brings in about four billion dollars annually to Florida but state officials, including Commissioner Doyle Conner, would like that figure increased.

At the risk of sounding greedy, so would we and we support the state's efforts to bring more business here.

The Glades, as we all know, is an agricultural area and the more Florida produce that's sold the stronger our local economy will be.

Conner said he thought that bringing grocery store big wigs here to see the vegetables and produce in the fields, then taking them up to Orlando where some of them would ride the Orange Blossom Special to Delaware, would give the grocers a better understanding of the industry.

That's true. Having a working knowledge of an industry from the ground up can greatly assist them when they decide what to buy and who and where to buy it from.

It also doesn't hurt if these buyers can put a face with a name on the telephone.

Conner said that, although the tour wouldn't become an annual event, he thought it may be a good idea to bring grocery store chain executives to the area periodically to make sure they are familiar with the area, the industry and its people.

We're glad to see the state isn't taking a four billion dollar industry for granted, and is actually making an effort to help it grow.

School thanks Martins, Phillips for support

Editor:

We wish to thank you, particularly Publisher Stan Martin and his wife Diana and former Advertising Director Bill Phillips for the time and effort spent on assisting our students with ad copy.

The cooperation of your staff and your personal involvement was inherent in our success during Lake Shore Middle School's American Education Week.

We deeply appreciate Mr. and Mrs. Martin's appearance at our school which lent an official air to our closing ceremonies.

Your contribution of certificates and a plaque to our students was well received and will be remembered.

A visit from who?

It was 1823 when Clement C. Moore published a poem, "A Visit from St. Nicholas," known to most of us as "The Night Before Christmas." A century and a half later Moore's poem is still very much a part of our Christmas tradition. But what, do you suppose, might happen to Moore's verse had he written it in 1983?

Dear Mr. Moore:

One of our people here at the agency has brought in a poem of yours, "A Visit from St. Nicholas," and I must say we're all pretty impressed with it. Has a nice ring to it and it packs a real wallop of nostalgia — has a "good old days" flavor that's really BIG these days, you know? In fact, we've got a TV seasonal spectacular coming up which, if we could work your little jingle, might just zoom it right up there to the top and make us all a few bucks. A few big bucks, I might add.

Anyway, Clem, a few of us have been kicking the idea around and we're pretty much agreed to run with it if we can get you to make a couple of small changes. Nothing drastic, you understand — just a word or two here and there.

I guess the title's the first item we need to address. One of our researchers tells us St. Nicholas was a Russian saint. I can't believe you didn't look into that, Clem. He may be a Dead Red but we couldn't touch him with a ten-foot buggy whip. Matter of fact, we'd like to end-run the whole subject of saints in this. Maybe you could come up with a "Papa" Somebody. But don't hit on "Papa Nick." The thinking here is that it sounds too much like a godfather.

Taking it from the top, we really love your opener, Clem, but there's this bit about "Ma in her kerchief and me in my cap." There's a little confusion here about that line. A couple of the guys even thought it had something to do with kinky sex. Maybe you could rework that line for us. How about "Mom in her jammies"? Feel free to use that, if you like, and you work on "me in my cap." That's really gotta go — some geezer getting into bed with his hat on, for cryin' out loud.

Oh, yeah. "Sugarplums." Nobody here's sure what they are. Would you object to "M&M's"? Especially if we could hook them up as co-sponsors? Just a thought, but hang on to it as tight as you can.

Another little change: you've got a line here, "breast of the new fallen snow." Clem, not even for Maidenform could we get off that line. You might crink it with "bosom," but frankly, I'd opt for some other word altogether.

Well, pal, just to cut things short here, let me run these few brief items past you:

No fur suits, please. We got problems aplenty already with the friends and relatives of animal lovers.

No pipe either. Ditto the medics. Smokeless tobacco or nothing. Especially around kids, you know? Would be better to avoid "fat" persons of any kind. Thin's in, fellah, especially when you're talking about a round belly and a bowlful of jelly — which everybody's going to translate to Jell-O and there goes that account.

"And What Not"

Speaking of accounts. Can you come up with another deer name than Comet? That one doesn't happen to be one of ours. How you feel about Ajax, or maybe 409? Frankly, that whole deer-line-up has us a bit troubled. Kind of sounds like a law firm or somebody else's ad agency. "Dancer," in fact, has got to go!

Our art department says if you can dream up some ethnic names they could do marvy things with the reindeer faces. You know, kind of a United Nations reindeer team. We rapped up some great nametags like Jitsu, Chouchou, Panju and Sammy. Anyway, you get the idea. See what you can do.

Also, the general feeling here is to do away with any "fingers," as in "laying a finger alongside his nose." This might seem a little picky but we don't want to be responsible for setting off any new gestures that might be construed by some people as maybe being obscene.

"Covered with soot." I don't need to tell you what the environmental people will do with this line. Honest to God, Clem, they could kill us just with that.

The whole matter of your main character entering a house by the chimney, I might point out, has raised quite a gut-busting fuss around here. We quelled the riot among the home-security accounts but the Sunbelt reps aren't too happy. A lot of southern houses don't have chimneys and they're afraid kids from Dixie can't identify. But I, for one, am ready to wave those mourners off. People who don't have to schlep around in snow and clean fireplaces are pretty big on romantic notions, in my personal opinion.

Well, Clem, there you have it. A few minor changes and I think we've got us a blockbuster here. I'm not even going to trouble you with rewriting that last line. Just don't want to surprise you with anything. But you might want to amend your copy to read: "Season's Greetings to All, etc." Just don't want to chance offending anybody.

Let me hear from you.

George Grinch

We all need encouragement

When the driver was stopped by a policeman for having no tail lights, he seemed quite distressed.

"Don't take it so hard," consoled the officer, "it's a minor violation."

"That's not the point," replied the troubled driver. "What worries me is what has happened to my wife and trailer!"

That's about how I feel when I look back at 1983. I've been driving so fast I may have lost something months ago and didn't even realize it. (I assure you, I haven't lost my wife, though.)

Sometimes we pastors become so engrossed in carrying out programs, striving to succeed, and struggling to meet deadlines that we lose sight of our true calling.

You see, I'm first called to be a Christian man. But, believe it or not, it's sometimes hard to be both a Christian and a pastor; so many of the situations encountered by a pastor are tempting, angering or depressing.

Then, of course, I am called to be a minister. The word minister means servant. But how can a pastor serve those who refuse his services? How can he visit the sick and depressed if no one tells him of their need? But you can be sure that if he doesn't call on them in their time of need, ignorance is not considered a valid excuse.

To be a preacher is certainly my calling. But sometimes we pastors hear someone say, "I never get anything out of his sermons." Now I ask you, how can they expect to be transformed in one hour, when the rest of the week they give very little attention to God?

Please understand, I am not trying to sound critical. I only want you to know that because of the incurable apathy of some parishioners, and the verbal attacks of others, there are pastors in this community who are ready to throw in the towel. They are hurting and discouraged. They need you.

While driving through Kentucky a pastor saw a large truck parked alongside the road with one wheel removed. When he stopped to offer assistance, the trucker said he had already sent for help. The truck had burned out a wheel bearing and another one was on the way. As the pastor drove away he noticed the lettering on the side of the truck: "Standard Oil Company of Kentucky, Lubricants Division." A truck hauling grease had burned out a bearing.

Your pastor has all that is needed to minister to the multiplied needs of others, but sometimes he neglects his own. Pray for him and encourage him.

Card of thanks

In the passing of our loved one, Howard Thomas, we would like to thank each of you that helped our family, whether it was food, phone calls, flowers or personal visits. Each kindness will always be remembered.

Legion sponsors student oratorical contest

BELLE GLADE -- and Moore Haven students in the public and private high schools in Belle Glade, Pahokee, Clewiston and receive college scholarship money totaling $16,000 by entering the annual national high school

'Angels of the World' to benefit ARC

BELLE GLADE -- Christmas tree ornaments to benefit the Glades Area Association for Retarded Citizens are on sale at the GAARC, according to Carol Haller, intern executive director.

The angel, named "Kathleen of Ireland" is the creation of sculptor Laszlo Ispanky. Haller said Ispanky is internationally recognized as the "Living Master". She said Ispanky's bronze and porcelain works are included in collections world-wide. Each year for the next 10 years, Ispanky said he will be creating a different angel representoratorical contest.

The contest is sponsored by the American Legion, Post 20 in Belle Glade and is open to any public or private high school student.

According to Eddie Alston, spokesperson for the local legion, the contest is the 47th annual for the American Legion, but this is the first time the local post has become involved.

"I have contacted some of the local schools already. Some students have already shown an interest,"

Alston said.

Participants "would be required to present a three and one-half minute to five minute speech on the constitution at the January 21 meeting of the American Legion in Belle Glade at 7 p.m."

According to Alston, the winner on the local level will receive United States Savings Bonds and be eligible for the district competition.

"The American Legion will pay for all the expenses of the winner at every phase," said Alston. On the state level, if they should win, they'll win a $1,500 scholarship. $1,000 of that will be for competing in the national regional contest, somewhere in Georgia," he said.

The American Legion will be giving first through fourth place awards totaling $109,000, with $16,000 for first, $14,000 for second place, $10,000 for third place and $8,000 for fourth place.

American Legion's National High School Oratorical Contest, according to a brochure from the American Legion, is to develop a "deeper knowledge and appreciation of the Constitution of the United States on the part of high school students."

The scholarships can be used to attend any college or university in the United States, according to the release. The national finals will be April 13 in Lansing, Michigan.

1983: a big year for GDS Gator football

The Glades Day Gators' reign as state champions at the class A level has come to an end. At least for a year.

As Coach Byron Walker, Jr. said after the game, the fans can say that the 11-2 state runners up have nothing to be ashamed of, but that doesn't ease the hurt.

Still, a look back at what did happen in the 1983 season may keep team members from looking at what might have been.

So, a brief look at the 1983 Glades Day season game by game.

Glades Day, 49 St. John Neumann, 0
September 13

Philip Echols and Brian Lohmann each scored two touchdowns to give the defending class A state champions a 49-0 victory in their first game of the 1983 gridiron season.

Coach Byron Walker, Jr. was pleased with the victory but wouldn't pass judgement on his defense until after it played Bishop Verot the following week.

"It was a shutout so obviously we played a good defensive game," he said. "Before I can pass judgement on our defense we're gonna have to see them against an adequate offense."

Glades Day, 27 Bishop Verot, 28
September 16

"They played too timid and you can't play timid defense against the wishbone," said Walker after the Gators suffered their first, and only, loss of the regular season.

He promised some defensive changes for the following week's contest against Hialeah-Dade Christian.

Glades Day, 29 Hialeah-Dade, 12
September 23

Quarterback Brian Lohmann led the Gators offensively with 112 yards passing, including a 38 yard touchdown pass to Mike Schlechter.

"He's done an excellent job," said Walker of Lohmann. "If he continues to play as effectively as he is, we'll do well."

Walker was still concerned with the defense, though and planned to work more on it for the next contest.

"We'll see if we can't stop somebody," he said. "We played better Friday. I think the moves we made are going to be effective."

Glades Day 18, Lake Placid 15
October 7

Mike Schlechter and Brian Lohmann led the team to their third victory in four games.

Lohmann was five of nine passing for 118 yards and Schlechter made three interceptions on defense and caught two passes for 52 total yards and a touchdown on offense.

"It was an excellent all around performance for him," said Walker of Schlechter. "We have two work on him (Lohmann) to improve the option game."

The defense also improved, just in time for the Gators first district game the following week against King's Academy.

"They're really coming around," said Walker of the defense's front seven. "I'm pleased with their improvements."

Glades Day, 54 King's Academy, 0
October 14

"The defense gave us the opportunity to score as many as we did," said Walker of the rout.

For example, they blocked a punt for the first scoring drive and King's center snapped the ball over the punter's head once. So the opportunity was there.

"I feel King's is a better football team than they showed us. But our players played with emotion this week. And after they got going, the momentum really got rolling. I hope it keeps rolling."

The victory gave the Gators a 4-1 record overall and a 2-0 record in the district.

Glades Day, 35 John Carroll, 3
October 21

The Gators defeated the class 2A Rams despite giving up 198 yards, three touchdowns and two interceptions to penalties.

The victory gave the Gators a 5-1 record and they prepared to meet Benjamin, traditionally their rival for the district title.

Glades Day, 29 Benjamin, 0
October 28

The string of shutouts over district opponents continued. Usually, a victory over the Buccaneers gave the Gators the district title. Not this year.

They couldn't be sure of a trip to the play-offs until after the Moore Haven game two weeks away.

Glades Day, 17 Frostproof, 3
November 4

Mike Schlechter took the opening kick-off and carried it 97 yards to the goal. The return broke the old school record which Schlechter set last season when he returned a Frostproof kick-off 94 yards.

"Coach (Dick) Schmidt coaches our special teams. He doesn't get a whole lot of recognition, but they work on stuff like that. That's a team effort," said Walker. "I was really happy for Dick. They set things up and executed them just like he told them to. I was happy for Mike too. But I was especially happy for Dick whose team got to contribute to the scoring in the game. It got me sort of pumped up. I was just real tickled for him."

"And of course for Mike, it must of been a real thrill, going 97 yards for a touchdown."

Glades Day, 28 Moore Haven, 0
November 11

The victory gave the Gators their second consecutive trip to the playoffs and a streak of six consecutive shutouts against district opponents.

"I was very impressed with our offensive team, particularly the front four. The offense had the ball six times and scored four. And were inside the five when the ball game ended," said Walker.

Glades Day, 22 Melbourne Central, 21
November 18

A 10-yard run by Philip Echols gave the Gators a one-point overtime victory and a 9-1 regular season record to carry into the play-offs. The 9-1 mark was the team's best since the undefeated 13-0 season of the 1980 state championship year.

Walker expressed displeasure with the Gators' performance in their last game and said he was going to expect a better game from the offense when the met Miami Northwest the next week.

Glades Day, 33 Miami Northwest, 6
November 25

The Gators picked up 206 yards rushing and 203 yards passing as they beat Miami Northwest for the chance to meet Frostproof in the sectionals.

The Gators had already beaten Frostproof once this year, but they were anxious to meet them again, according to Walker. The wounds of a 33-6 drubbing the previous year hadn't quite healed.

"We're still not over that whipping they gave us last year," said Walker. "It will take a lot of wins before we're even."

Glades Day, 18 Frostproof, 3
December 2

The Gators were going to play host to the first state championship football game ever to be played in Palm Beach County, but that's just about where the firsts ended.

It would be the Gators third meeting for the state title and the third time they would play for the championship against the Baker Gators.

"There's no need to feel pressure now," said Walker. "You're in the big one. The hard part's over. We may as well go out and have some fun."

Glades Day, 7 Baker 20
December 9

It was the Baker Gators' third shot at the Glades Day Gators, and the state championship, in four years. This time Baker walked away the victor.

"They (Baker) deserve all the credit in the world," said Walker. "They controlled the line of scrimmage all night on both sides. We were beaten by a better football team tonight."

"I'll have to sit back and think about it," said Walker. "I haven't lost my motivation. This game hasn't lost it for me. I'm still motivated. So I'll just have to think about it a while."

Walker joined the Glades Day football coaching staff in 1976 as an assistant under Riley Foster.

The next year, he took over as head coach and took the team to it's third consecutive play-off appearance.

His teams have won state championships in 1980, and 1982 and were runners up this year.

His record as head coach is 64-16 overall and 8-2 in post season contention. His worst season was the 1979 season when the Gators finished at 6-4.

BYRON WALKER, JR., right, paces the sidelines while his team plays the state championship game.

A GLADES DAY FAN glumly watches the game from his seat under the main section of seats Friday night as the clock ticks off the final seconds of hope for a second consecutive championship.

two-point conversion gave the Baker Gators a 20-7 lead.
While Baker's defense went to work making that hold, the Glades Day offense started trying, unsuccessfully, to chip away at it.
Twice the Glades Day offense got the ball to within 20 yards of the goal line and twice it came away empty handed.

When the final seconds of the game ticked off the clock, Glades Day had the ball at the Baker 10 yard line.

While Baker players and fans grouped in the middle of the field, Glades Day players, coaches and fans, some of them with tears in their eyes, headed for the gates and next year.

"Other than the one series in the first half, we were never able to get on track against them," said Glades Day Coach Byron Walker, Jr. "We just couldn't come out of there with it. They deserve all the credit in the world. They controlled the line of scrimmage all night on both sides. We were beaten by a better football team tonight."

Prior to the game, Ensor didn't sound too optimistic, saying that private schools should perhaps be put in separate classes because of their ability to recruit players.

The long trip to Belle Glade from Baker was also cause for concern, according to Ensor, who said his team had a "terrible" trip.

Apparently, those concerns for concern were just program hype or not as much of a factor as Ensor anticipated, judging from his team's performance.

"We'll enjoy the ride back," he said after the game. "It was a long ride down, but it will be a lot shorter going back."

"Now we can have a sign made for the road into our town," Ensor told the Baker team and fans who hoisted him on their shoulders in the post-game celebration.

The mood in the Glades Day locker room and athletic office wasn't so jubilant.

"All we can do is hope they learn something from experience," said Walker. "We were beaten by a better football team tonight. You can say all that stuff about 'they have nothing to be ashamed of,' but you know, that doesn't ease the hurt. Great programs endure and ours has endured a lot worse things than this."

"That stuff they say about it being better to have gotten there and lost than to not have gotten there at all. Don't believe it."

Glades Day's 1983 team compared favorably to the 1980 and 1982 teams, according to Walker.

"We felt were going into this season with the best all around football team that we ever had here," said Walker.

Marcus Mays, the Baker running back who comprised most of the Baker offensive efforts, also came in for some recognition from Walker.

"It's hard to compare a high school player to a pro, but he reminds you of a (Gale) Sayers," said Walker. "He gives you that limp leg and you ease up your grip a little and he's off and out of there."

"Baker... just out quicked us off the ball. The game developed pretty much like I thought it would."

Woman charged in baby killing

BELLE GLADE - A Belle Glade woman is facing a first degree murder charge in connection with the shooting death of her 16-month old infant son.

According to a Belle Glade Police Department report, Johnathan Cruz Lopez, 15-months, of 800 Northwest Avenue L number 23 in Belle Glade was shot at about 1 p.m. December 7 inside the apartment he and his mother lived in.

According to witness accounts, after the first shot, the child was brought out of the apartment and handed to the apartment manager, Dan Kirkland, who noticed the child was shot and tried to administer first aid.

The wounded child's mother, Sonia Lopez Rivera, was then seen re-entering the apartment. She allegedly came back outside with a gun.

Kirkland told police that Rivera pointed the gun at herself, discharged the weapon and fell to the ground. Kirkland approached Rivera thinking that she had shot herself, but, according to police, Rivera missed and the projectile passed between her arm and her side.

The infant and mother were both taken to Glades General Hospital in Belle Glade where the infant was pronounced dead at 2 p.m.

pressure loss, but Florida statutes required the city to notify city water consumers of a potential contamination.

The water had to be boiled for 10 minutes prior to use Friday, December 9 because of those statutes, according to Stroop.

"It was after the fact," said Stroop. "The law required us to do that. Which is a good thing. It looks out for the people and it also keeps operators on their toes."

The warning to water users was required because there is a possibility of an influx of contaminating organisms during a loss of pressure, according to Stroop.

Matter can build up in the pipes and when there is a sudden inflow of water after a pressure loss, that matter, which could contain unhealthy contaminants, could be loosened and put into the water system.

Harvest

the Orange Blossom Special, that night.

The Orange Blossom Special doesn't usually carry passengers. It carries produce from Florida to Wilmington, Delaware in 21 hours.

According to Conner, it was possible that some of the vegetables the group saw harvested in the fields Thursday afternoon would be carried north on the same train some of the members rode to Delaware that evening.

It's possible to harvest produce in Florida and have it on a table in a northern home in about 36 hours, because of the transportation advancements made recently.

"In this business, time is freshness and transportation means fresh," said Conner.

Darryl Gregson, chairman of the board, president and chief executive officer of Victory Markets, Inc. out of Norwich, New York, said the tour gave him and other grocers a chance to see the industry from the ground up. He said he in particular was interested in the advancements made in Florida lettuce production.

He said northern grocers purchase mostly Iceberg lettuce from California because the Florida varieties don't seem to retain their freshness as well.

He said he and other grocers would like to purchase Florida lettuce but he thinks more work is needed before it can compete with California Iceberg.

"It just doesn't hold up," he said. "They have to do something to get the moisture out of it."

Improved and faster transportation methods hasn't solved the problem yet, Gregson added.

Victory purchases about 20 to 25 percent of their produce from Florida, said Gregson.

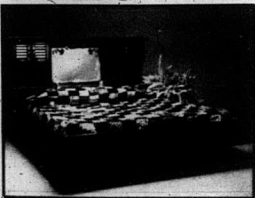

The agriculture industry is responsible for about four billion dollars annually in Florida, according to Conner, and the state would like to see the eastern seaboard buy more from the state.

"They do hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of business here. We just want them to do more," said Conner. "This is the most important link in the eastern seaboard. It's the only area east of the Mississippi that produces vegetables and citrus in the winter months."

Board approves writeoff

PAHOKEE - The Pahokee Housing Authority has lost about $1,900 in back-rents and unpaid water bills in the last six months.

The authority's board of commissioners voted 4-0 to write off the loss of $1,956 after Randall J. Mills, the authority's executive director, brought the matter before the board at its monthly meeting, December 13.

According to Mills, almost half of the bad debts were incurred by one tenant who had a broken toilet.

The toilet apparently flushed constantly for over a month, driving the tenant's water bill to over $800.

That tenant, whose total debt was about $2,100, has moved, according to Mills.

Host families sought for cast

Anyone interested in serving as a host family for an "Up With People" cast member is asked to call Jeannie Powell at (813) 983-9631 or Becky Bauer at (805) 924-5494.

The Up With People show comes to Belle Glade's Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center Jan. 9-10.

Host families must be able to supply cast members with transportation.

Ticket outlets are the Clowiston, Belle Glade and Pahokee Chambers of Commerce.

Ticket prices are $7 for adults and $5 for students/senior citizens.

'83-'84 Up With People premieres in Glades

The energy, the excitement, the enthusiasm of the all new 1983-84 Up With People Show is coming to Belle Glade, Florida on Monday and Tuesday, January 9 and 10, at 8 p.m. in the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center.

The WSWN Radio Station and The Herald-Observer/Clewiston News are co-sponsoring this highly acclaimed two hour musical experience performed by a cast of 120 young men and women from 14 countries.

Tickets are $7.00 for adults and $5.00 for students and senior citizens and are now on sale at the Clowiston Chamber of Commerce.

Up With People's music is a dynamic combination of popular medleys and original compositions energetically performed by the talented cast and band. The choreography is non-stop and finds its way from the stage into the aisles.

Throughout the show, the cast takes the audience on a musical journey of the world. Whether swinging arm in arm at a Belgian beer garden, enjoying a Swedish Ox Dance or being pulled into a Brazilian samba line, the Up With People show offers all the excitement of a global tour without the jet lag.

There's music for almost every taste and age, from Renaissance and Modern Classic to the GoGo's and Kool and the Gang.

In a medley from the 1950s, the stage is transformed into a huge high school gymnasium for the junior/senior prom when girls in their ball gowns and guys in their tuxes hop and swing to the music of Tony Bennett, the Cordelets and Bill Haley and Comets.

Some of the old Up With People favorites are there too, including the group's theme song, "Up With People!" and the poignant ballad of a little boy's curiosity about equality, "What Color Is God's Skin?"

High-tech society meets its musical future when "Robbie Robot" and his back-up trio, the Transisters, make their escape from a factory assembly line to the Up With People stage.

Up With People has been seen live in concert by over eight million people in 47 countries. They have performed at three Super Bowl halftimes, with the Boston Pops and 10 other symphonies, at the 1982 World's Fair and in world settings from Peking, China, to Warsaw, Poland.

"Up With People smoothes the cares and frets of the day with a shower of lights and color and music," wrote one reviewer. "It's an evening of entertainment little short of sheer magic."

people."

McKinstry then pointed out that so far, every document he's read from the state or United States Army Corps of Engineers indicated that no structures of the type PMDC has proposed could be built on the lakeside of the dike.

"The government is not gonna let you build anything on the other side of the dike. They are not gonna set a precedent," said McKinstry. "I'm sure of it. Everybody in this room is sure of it and you are too if you're realistic about it."

"No, I'm not sure of it," said Hatton. He said even if the corporation couldn't build a hotel and restaurant on the lakeside of the dike, it could still build on the opposite side.

Mok pointed out that one document from the corps indicated it encourages the location of concessions at that type of facility.

Housing problems to be aired

BELLE GLADE — Local citizens will have the opportunity to discuss the housing situation in Belle Glade at the meeting of a newly formed organization Tuesday, January 3.

The meeting will be at the old Community Mental Health Building at 300 West Canal Street in Belle Glade at 7 p.m. It is now the Haitian Catholic Center.

Harvin, Belle Glade's planning and community development director, was at the December 8 meeting of the newly formed, but as yet unnamed, organization.

Issues affecting residents, the housing situation in Belle Glade and ways to help improve some of the conditions were discussed by the 18 participants at the meeting, according to Pat Meier.

The plot is just north of Burger King and the Popeye's restaurant that is under construction.

Roy Burch of Royal's O.K. Lunch, Inc., said the company wants to use the land as a mobile home sales lot.

About five or 10 mobile homes will be placed on the lot and offered for sale, according to Burch.

Company officials will also want to place an office structure at the site, but they don't want to build a permanent structure on the plot, according to Burch.

"I do not want to build something permanent on that property that I can't use long term," said Burch.

Mayor Thomas L. Altman asked if that meant the company would want to put a mobile home on the site and use it as an office.

Burch responded that if it put a temporary office at the site, it would use only a unit that met state requirements.

Altman pointed out that the city governs the placing of mobile homes in the city limits, not the state, and the city code is probably more strict than state guidelines.

He said any request for a trailer permit would have to go before the city board of adjustment, which the city commission can't overrule. The board of adjustment, according to Altman, "has been very strict, recently, in regard to the placing of trailers in the city."

Curtis Thompson, a member of the board in attendance at the commission meeting, said that he didn't think there would be much of a problem with much of a request, if it went to the board, because of Royal's reputation.

Altman said that, if the project would have been submitted by someone other than Royal's O.K. Lunch, "I would be against it."

The company, which already has 20-year franchises with Burger King and Popeyes on the property adjacent to the plot in question, owns another 16 acres of land in the area.

Burch agreed that Royal's is the biggest property owner in that section of town and he said the company wouldn't want to put anything on the land which would detract from the value of the rest of the property.

He said if he was faced with a situation where the trailer sales lot was detracting from the rest of the property in the area, he could have all the trailers moved off the plot in two days.

Commissioner Dan Bythwood said he didn't see any problem with the proposal, particularly considering the company's reputation.

Burch agreed to Altman's suggestion that the company and city try to work any potential legal difficulties with the proposal between that evening and the time the city gives final approval to the ordinance.

Baker was asked to draw up the appropriate annexation ordinance and said it would be the end of January before the city commission could give its final approval to it.

The city commission must approve an ordinance after each of two readings before it can become law.

ahokee antata set

The Pahokee Church of God will present its annual Christmas Cantata Sunday, December 18th, at 6 p.m. The young people with James F. Brewer, pastor, will perform "The Late Great Potentate" directed by Lola Brewer.

Following this the Chancel Choir, led by Marian Hatton, will sing "Home for Christmas."

CONGRESSMAN TOM LEWIS addressed a joint meeting of the Belle Glade Rotary and Lions Clubs in Belle Glade Friday, December 13. It was the first known joint meeting of the two clubs.

garbage contract approved

SOUTH BAY — South Bay residents can rest assured that their garbage and trash will be collected for the next five years while the city is selling water to a water association as part of an attempt to lower water rates.

The city commissioners Tuesday, December 6, approved a contract with South Florida Sanitation that will cost the city $8,240 per month for the next five years. The only increases built into the contract address increases for dumping and fuel charges.

The monthly fee is based upon $15 per ton of garbage and trash, according to the contract.

Another contract was approved that will permit the city to sell water to the South Shore Water Association.

The out-of-town association agreed to the city's standard contract rate but asked the city to consider a reduction of the 25 percent surcharge on all out-of-town water users because of the volume of water the association's officials expect to use.

The commission didn't take any action on that request.

City Attorney James Gann told the city commission that the contract stipulates that if the city's consumers will have first option on any water produced by the city.

If the city's plant can't meet the demand of both the association and the city's consumers, city commissioners' demands will be met first.

chamber reviews money making ideas for dinner

BELLE GLADE — The Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce board of directors is seeking ways to break even or make money on the chamber's annual banquet.

Board members discussed several options at their monthly meeting December 8. Chamber President Israel Baez, Jr. said the chamber lost $316 this year on the banquet, which was attended by 215 people.

Chamber members discussed other ways to raise funds for the chamber, and a membership drive was addressed by Judy Schiele.

A statewide contest to find the most productive oldest working individual was also discussed by members.

The "Your Still Ticking Awards" will be co-sponsored by the Department of Labor and the Employment Security Job Service. The chamber directors agreed to help sponsor the contest locally.

The awards will be presented at a statewide seminar in March in Orlando during National Employment Week.

There will be six winners, including a grand prize winner and employers can obtain forms to enter eligible employees at the chamber office.

Glades of Jabberwock

The Glades Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta, Inc. sponsored its annual Jabberwock Program December 3.

The winners in each category were: Little Miss Jabberwock, Danella Bythwood; Junior Miss Jabberwock, Katrina McCoy; and Miss Jabberwock, Tammy Harris. Other participants were Omika Griffin, Raquisha Cato, Nicole Lindsey, Monica Taylor, Nikol West, Naomi Oliver and Michele Jackson.
